Elements of a successful MD-PhD application

MD/PhD Application process

- Apply via the American Medical College Application Service (AMCAS)
 - 3 essays; 2 are MD/PhD specific:
 - Personal Comments (all MD applicants)
 - MD-PhD Motivation Essay (why pursue MD-PhD Degree?)
 - Significant Research Experience Essay
 - MCAT and GPA
 - Experiences (up to 15)
- Request Letters of Recommendation
- Request official transcripts

This application and LORs are the only information we have about you

Application Process – Research Experience

Significant Research Experience

- Describe the research in your lab
- Describe your research project
- Did you test a hypothesis or conduct discovery research?
- Describe your role on each project
- What did you learn?
- What did this project teach you about your career path.....?

Application Process – Letters of Recommendation

- Individual schools have specific letter requirements
- May have up to 10 letters, but we don't want to read that many!
- Critical letter(s) are from your research mentor(s)
 - Submit one LOR from each substantial research experience
 - LOR should attest to your potential as a physician scientist

Application Process – Work and Activities Descriptions

- Can enter up to 15 different experiences
- Pick up to three as “most meaningful”, but be prepared to discuss each experience
- Experience includes:
 - Shadowing, volunteering, research, leadership activities, presentations, employment
 - Include start and end dates, total hours

Interview Day – General Tips

- Smile and make eye contact
- Maintain a positive attitude throughout the day
- Actively engage interviewers and students
- Be able to address all the items in your application
- Be prepared for certain questions, but do not over-rehearse

Try to enjoy the experience

Interview Day – Questions

Questions may be open ended or address a specific point in your application

- What experiences shaped your decision to pursue an MD/PhD dual degree?
- What are your long-term career goals as a physician scientist?
- Tell me about your research
